Open Source Projects

Canada Learning Bond: Do low income families in Canada know about the additional government grant towards their children's RESP? — Aug. 2022
Tools: Spreadsheet (pivot tables)
Goals: Find out what percentage of low income families in Canada are saving towards their children's tertiary education.
Dataset: Over 40k data points
Results: Only 43% of children eligible for additional $2,000 government grant are currently receiving it. The government of Canada need to do more awareness and education targeted at low income families about the importance of saving towards their children's RESP

Analysis of the city of Calgary 311 public service requests — Aug. 2022
Tools : Excel, SQL, Powerpoint.
Goals : Identify trends and make recommendations for how the city of Calgary handles its non-emergency public service requests
Dataset: Over 300k data points
Results: During the month of June, there was a significant hike in 311 public service requests in the finance department. The city of Calgary should prepare in advance for this increase in public service requests.

Google Data Analytics Capstone Project — Aug. 2022
Tools: R
Goals: Provide marketing recommendation for a wellness company using open source fitness data.
Dataset: Over 20k data points in 12 different categories
Results: Fitness device users are not using their devices regularly and are mostly living a sedentary lifestyle. Bellabeat inc. can leverage this insights as marketing strategy to encourage their customers buy and use their product better.

Analyzing Traffic Incidents in Calgary for the first half of 2022. — July 2022
Tools: Spreadsheet and SQL
Goal: Analyze the quadrant in the city of Calgary with highest traffic incidents for Jan - Jun 2022
Dataset: Oer 3k data points
Results: The quadrant with highest traffic incidents was consistent through the first half of 2022. Perhaps due to preparation for the Calgary Stampede in the month of July, the city of Calgary had the highest number of traffic incidents in the month of June.
